

Production of Rubber in Mon State (2000-2001 to 2008-2009)

Kay Thwe Khaing¹, Kharttar Soe²

Abstract

Mon State is the third smallest region although second most populated region in Myanmar. But it has a favorable climate and environment for growing crops, especially rice and rubber. Agriculture as well as other economic sectors are playing for harmonious development with other states and divisions. In agriculture, rubber is main crop after paddy. Mon State is the top rubber producer in Myanmar. The sown acreage and harvested acreage as well as production of rubber are continuously increasing from 2000-2001 to 2008-2009.

Keywords: Agriculture, top rubber producer.

1. Assistant Lecturer, Department of Economics, Yangon Institute of Education

2. Tutor, Department of Economics, Yangon Institute of Education